HAWAII'S MUSIC BARRED ON WALK

Atlantic City Lessors Compel Wood to Dismiss Singers.

AN UNUSUAL ACTION TAKEN

The Hotel People Claim Island Music Lowers the Standard.

Hawaii's singing boys and the sweet music of Hawaii, the music that has charmed every visitor to Hawaii, have been barred from the famous Atlantic City board walk by the management of the Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel, and the Hawaiian exhibit and bureau of information maintained by the Hawaii Promotion Committee, the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, and other local corporations, has been compelled to discontinue with one of its chief attractions. There is just a suspicion that the action of the management, which controls the leased store in which the exhibit is displayed, was based on objections of competitors, who found that Hawaii was attracting too much attention.

The decision of the hotel management comes as a body blow to those who were backing the enterprise at Atlantic City, where pineapple products were being sold, and Hawaiian literature and information passed out to the traveling public.

The effort had been made by Secretary H. P. Wood of the chamber of commerce and promotion committee, to make the Atlantic City exhibit as attractive as possible, based on the plan of the Hawaiian exhibit at the Seattle Exposition. The Hawaiian exhibit at Seattle was considered one of the best attractions, and the Hawaiian singing held the attention of thousands daily. Believing that the same music would be an attraction at Atlantic City a band of Hawaiian musicians were sent there, and for a while they were a real attraction. Mr. Wood loaned the musicians for various big occasions, such as an

YOUTH IS RUN DOWN BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Machine Driven by Mrs. W. F. Heilbron Strikes J. Silva, Aged Fourteen.

Joseph Silva, aged fourteen, was run down and painfully injured at the intersection of Liliha and School streets yesterday afternoon by an automobile driven by Mrs. W. F. Heilbron. He was removed to Queen's Hospital and, after two or three hours his physician, Dr. G. Hodgins, feared the boy was probably fatally injured internally, but at a late hour last night young Silva was thought to be out of danger.

It was reported that the boy started to run across the street in front of the automobile when it was too close for him to escape the wheels. It was also reported to the police that Mrs. Heilbron did not sound the automobile horn, but it was altogether probable that she did not have time to sound an alarm with the boy so close to the machine when she first saw him.

Mrs. Heilbron stopped the machine some distance from the place where the boy was hurt, and returned to have medical aid provided for the injured youth.

FLYING TRIP AMONG THE ISLANDS NOT IMPRACTICABLE, SAYS WOOD

"I suppose the next thing we will have to offer in Hawaii will be an aeroplane excursion between the islands, from Makawao to Haleakala and from Hilo to the top of Mauna Loa."

So writes Secretary H. P. Wood of the Hawaii Promotion Committee from Atlantic City. His reason for suggesting such a flight proposition is that it all seems possible after witnessing the events of the last few weeks, when Brookins, especially, broke the world's

"BAD" BOYS WILL GOVERN SELVES

Principles of George Junior Republic to Be Applied at Waialeale.

Some of the features of the George Junior Republic for the handling of "bad" boys, may, according to Governor Frear, be incorporated in the management of the Boys' Industrial School at Waialeale and the Lahainaluna School of Hawaii.

Governor Frear while in the East visited the George Junior Republic and became very much interested in the work being done there by Mr. George. He realizes that it is impracticable to try to carry out in full detail the scheme in Hawaii, but he also realizes that there are certain features of the work that might profitably be transferred to Hawaii.

The George Junior Republic is in effect an institution for the reformation of so-called bad boys. Its main feature is self-government. The boys have their own courts, their own magistrates, schools, work shops, governing assemblies and methods of punishment. Nobody is under restraint except that imposed by his own comrades. Nobody is required to remain unless he wants to and none is followed if he runs away. The self-government principle is followed throughout.

The boys, Governor Frear says, are encouraged to work, and upon their industry depends their comfort. If they are lazy, their food and accommodations are comparatively poor. If they are industrious, they are able to afford better quarters and better fare.

In short, he boys are treated as men. They work as men, act like men and are given the responsibility of men. As nearly as possible the boys are taught to act under the conditions they will meet in after life.

A high school is maintained which the boys may attend after working hours, and the graduates of that school are able to pass the entrance examinations of the various colleges, often with high percentages.

Governor Frear says that this system is in part already in effect at the Boys' Industrial School, but he thinks that it may be somewhat more elaborated there as well as at Lahainaluna.

A PLAN TO OUST DESHA FROM PARTY

Proposition to Charge Him and National Committeeman Holstein With Treachery.

Hilo Tribune.—A most interesting and revolutionary political scheme was hatched up here last week. The plot was to pass a resolution by which Supervisor Desha should be formally read out of the Republican party. The grounds were to be alleged political treachery not only on the part of Desha, but also on the part of National Committeeman Holstein.

But the plot failed to materialize, at least it did not come off at the meeting of the Republican county committee last Wednesday evening, which was the time set for the springing of the mine. It is not known whether those behind the plan have given it up as a bad job, or whether they are merely waiting for another time at which to spring it.

It appears that it was arranged originally that John Hering should introduce the resolution, while Bernard Kelekolo, the Boy Orator, should second it. This arrangement was still on the boards on the day of the meeting, but it seems that the Boy Orator decided on more mature deliberation that it would be unwise for him to meddle with a buzz saw which did not concern him, so he withdrew from the proposition.

Kelekolo said last Thursday that John Hering came to him with the proposition to oust Desha from the party. Hering told him that Desha and Holstein had some time ago held a meeting with Kealawa, the Democratic representative, at which they tried to induce Kealawa to give up his plan to run for the house this election, and to run for the board of supervisors from Puna district instead, the idea being that Kealawa would be able to defeat Norman Lyman, the regular Republican candidate for supervisor.

JOE SILVA CASE COMES UP TODAY

Proprietor of Pantheon Saloon on Carpet Before License Commissioners.

There will be a meeting of the liquor license commission at four o'clock this afternoon, and Joe Silva, proprietor of the Pantheon saloon, will be on the carpet to explain, if he can, why he allowed the disgraceful assault upon H. M. Ayres by Jack McFadden and Elwood Heine.

At the trial of McFadden and Heine in police court yesterday morning, Commissioner Alfred Castle and Inspector Fennell were interested spectators and took notes of what they heard. Following the conviction of the two Hotel street toughs, conferences were held among members of the liquor board, and it was decided to summon Silva to appear before the commission this afternoon.

Things look very bad for Silva. His previous conduct and the unsavory reputation of his jag joint are against him, and the fact that he stood by and saw two of his tough hangers on assault a citizen because the latter had voted the prohibition ticket will not help him much. It is also understood that Inspector Fennell found a drunk asleep in the Pantheon one day this week, and this is one more straw on the camel's back.

KEEP THE GANG OFF THE STREET

Respectable Women Frequently Insulted by McFadden Toughs.

The conviction of Jack McFadden, pug and saloon hanger, and Elwood Heine, a professional rubber of prize fighters, in the police court has once more brought to the front the unsavory crowd known as the "Hotel street gang," which Chief of Detectives McDuffie once ordered to move on. They moved and then came back, and their conduct along Hotel street has been such lately that respectable women hesitate about walking along it from Fort to Nuuanu, or even to Bethel.

As a rule, a woman has to pass between two lines of loafers, composed of such toughs as Jack McFadden, Heine and others of their class, one in front of the Pantheon saloon and one on the curb in front of the same saloon, while other members of the gang usurp the bootblack stand nearby. The remarks passed by these gentry, which nearly all women hear whether they wish to or not, are obscene and generally intended to reflect upon the appearance of the passersby.

One evening a party of tourists was passing there when one of the gang remarked upon the physical development of a lady in the party. A gentleman in the party had half a mind to return and thrash the tough, but as he was leaving for the Coast the following morning, he feared that possible court proceedings would hold him here and he let the matter go.

Young girls are particularly picked out for dirty remarks, and when a girl turns her head to see who the tough is or to tell them to mind their own business, the "professional rubbers," "swabbers," parasites in the gang hoot at her. Oftentimes a man has reached out and touched a woman.

There have been times when a gentleman wishes to chastise the one who passes remarks, but fears that the entire gang will jump to the assistance of their comrade.

The time has come when all the McFaddens and Heines of that street are moved on, and it is up to McDuffie to keep them moving and keep order so that respectable women may use the street without fear of insult. Either that or close up the saloon where the toughs congregate.

AYRES WILL SUE CALF FOR LIBEL

In all probability a libel suit will be brought against the Evening Bulletin by H. M. Ayres, against whom that paper made a number of groundless charges yesterday, stating that he stood in danger of arrest for perjury. The charges are in connection with the right of Ayres to be registered as a voter. A reading of the article shows that spite, ignorance of the facts and a strange desire on the part of the afternoon paper to shamelessly exhibit its yellow streak furnished the only excuse for the publication.

Mr. Ayres brands the story as essentially false and as libelous, attempting to show that he is in danger of arrest on a grave charge when no such danger exists.

BACK AT SUMMER CAPITAL

BEVERLY, July 28.—President Taft reached here today, returning from his Mayflower cruise down the coast.

VAGUE THEORIES NO REAL EVIDENCE

Poor Chun Ton's Death May Never Be Avenged—Suspects Tell "Fishy" Story.

In all probability the murder and attempted cremation of Chun Ton on a rice plantation in the Kahuku district nine days ago will go unavenged. Yesterday a severe examination of Lung Son, Ah Lai and Lung Kee by Assistant City Attorney Milverton and Chief of Detectives Arthur McDuffie failed to get anything from the three Chinese but a theory that Chun Ton committed suicide because opium was too high in price. The same theory was advanced by Sing Moon and Ah Mon, who were examined previously.

All five Chinese suspects stated they believed Ton took his own life because he was too poor to buy opium, but the facts, as ascertained by McDuffie and others who went to the scene of the murder last Thursday afternoon, when an inquest was held over the body of the murdered man, make such a theory sound ridiculous.

The victim of the murder was sleeping in a house with three of the suspects, and on Tuesday night he left the house, or was taken out of it, and the three got up and went to their breakfast without noticing that he was gone. Ah Mon, at whose shanty Ton got his meals, went to the house where the four lived and inquired for the missing man, acting as if he were especially anxious to learn his whereabouts.

Ton was stabbed in the side and his body was burned to crisp from his knees upward, and his shoes and an unloaded rice gun and a pair of sandals were lying alongside the body when Mon discovered it. And besides there were marks on the ground indicating that the body of the man had been dragged under the tree, where Mon found it.

It would be absurd to assert that a man, after stabbing himself, could saturate his own clothes, set fire to himself and then lie down and let himself be burned like the carcass of a pig over hot coals without struggling or making noise enough to awaken the men inside the house.

McDuffie is handicapped by the distance from the city to where the murder was committed, and unless somebody pays a private detective to run down the murderers Chun Ton's death may never be avenged.

WOOD BRINGING SOON BACK ON THE LURLINE

High Sheriff William Henry has received a cablegram announcing that Billy Wood left San Francisco on the Matson liner Lurline, bringing Tin Soon, the escaped convict who got away from the prison gang about two months ago and sailed for the mainland on the Oceanic liner Sierra.

It is remembered Soon was intercepted by the San Francisco police as he was ready to leave the ship. He traveled under the alias "Elder."

FORMER LOCAL HINDU MAKES STIR IN CANADA

H. Rahim, the Hindu who was engaged in business in a small way on King street, Palama, until recently, and left here for Canada, is the subject of considerable official correspondence in the Dominion of Canada. The Vancouver Daily Province of June 29 has the following story of the effort to deport him:

The most strongly-worded protest ever framed by the Hindus of Vancouver was sent last night to Lord Morley, Lord Minto, Viceroy of India, and to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It read:

"Hindustani Association, Vancouver, B. C., in special meeting, protest against action of local Dominion immigration office regarding threatened unlawful deportation of Mr. H. Rahim, British subject, respectable Mohammedan merchant, manager Canada-India Trust Company here, holding landed property."

"As British subjects we demand our unalienable right to reside, more freely, in British Empire; request immediate redress against high-handed, impolitic and Empire-breaking action of local authorities."

"(Signed) G. D. KUMAR, Secretary."

The protest followed a special meeting of the Hindus held last night at which the threatened deportation of Mr. Rahim was the one lively topic.

According to the local immigration officials Mr. Rahim arrived from Honolulu as a tourist. By the federal act tourists are exempt from the operation of the conditions of the law. But it is pointed out by the immigration officials that Mr. Rahim did not long continue in this raving role, soon deciding to remain here and engage in business.

This they regard as a violation of the law, and therefore contend that Mr. Rahim is not legally in Canada. He has merely been informed that he is liable to deportation, his case being now before the authorities at Ottawa.

HONOLULU IS HIT BY PACIFIC MAIL

Prospective Tourists From Orient Get Little Encouragement to Stop Off Here.

While the promotion committee is making a steady campaign to attract tourists from all parts of the world, there are frequently scores of tourists in the harbor from the Orient who have little or no opportunity to remain here to see what scenic attractions there are, according to A. L. C. Atkinson, who discussed the matter yesterday with the members of the committee. Mr. Atkinson recently returned from Manchuria, and based some of his statements on what he personally observed aboard a liner coming from Yokohama to this port.

He referred to the apparent lack of opportunity of passengers coming from Orient ports to stop off at this port and resume their voyage to the Coast on later steamers. There were fifty passengers on the boat on which he returned home from Manchuria who would have stopped over had they been given any encouragement about getting passage on a boat following.

He wondered if some arrangement for interchange of tickets could not be made, so that Pacific Mail tickets could be used on the Matson and Oceanic lines from here to the Coast.

Agents Are Indifferent

He referred also to the indifference of steamship agents in the Orient and their failure to give exact information about the islands to prospective visitors. A passenger who came over on the same boat learned from Cook's man in the Orient that this was not the season to stop over in Honolulu, as it was too hot, a statement which made Mr. Atkinson smile when he heard of it. This passenger, who hails from the Isle of Man, expressed his feelings about steamship agents in general when he was in Honolulu.

Mr. Atkinson thought some method should be devised whereby the steamship agents away from here should be apprised of the real situation in the

The regular weekly meeting of the board of land commissioners was not held last night. It was announced yesterday morning that the meeting would be held at 8 o'clock. William Berry was nominated for governor, and candidates for other State officers will be selected. The new party is composed of persons bitterly opposed to the saloon interests, and who have thus far failed to influence the leaders of either of the old political parties.

The convention was a gathering of enthusiastic men, and a lively campaign is planned by the leaders.
